- Far more durable than enameled. Better stability for heavy Indian cookware like kadais and pressure cookers, with a premium look and longer service life.
- Higher heat output across all hobs for faster cooking, improved efficiency, and better high-heat performance.
- Improved material and coating quality preserves the finish for the product's full lifecycle.
- Advanced burner technology improves flame stability, significantly reducing pot sooting. This ensures cleaner cookware, more efficient combustion, and a better cooking experience.
